

Dr. A. Middleton
Connecting Science
Head, Society and Ethics Research
Wellcome Genome Campus
Hinxton, Cambridge, CB10 1SA
United Kingdom

Thursday, 22 February 2018

Dear Dr. Middleton,

On behalf of the European Journal of Human Genetics and Nature Publishing Group, I am pleased to advise you that you have been selected as winner of the 2nd prize EJHG 2018 Award, for your manuscript "Attitudes of nearly 7000 health professionals, genomic researchers and publics toward the return of incidental results from sequencing research" for receiving 14 citations in the first calendar year following publication of research papers published in 2016 in the European Journal of Human Genetics.

This entitles you to free ESHG Membership for 2018, including the EJHG subscription, electronic, for the rest of this year and next year. In order to allow you to receive the award, you are also entitled to a free registration to the 2018 ESHG meeting, held in Milan, Italy, June 16th - 19th, 2018. Please note that the award will be handed out in the afternoon of the last day of the meeting. We would appreciate it if you could confirm your attendance, or wish to defer, as soon as possible so that we can make the necessary arrangements and allowances for the award ceremony.

Yours sincerely,

Prof. Gertjan B. van Ommen, Ph.D.
Editor-in Chief
European Journal of Human Genetics